

Cooking Class & Child's Day Activity Report.

It started with good energy, the children never lose their curiosity to know what they are going to make, they made Pasta Primavera, a very healthy recipe for children to develop their interest in vegetables and know how to integrate them into their food. The younger ones participated in cutting the vegetables, we were always supervising them and teaching them how to cut.

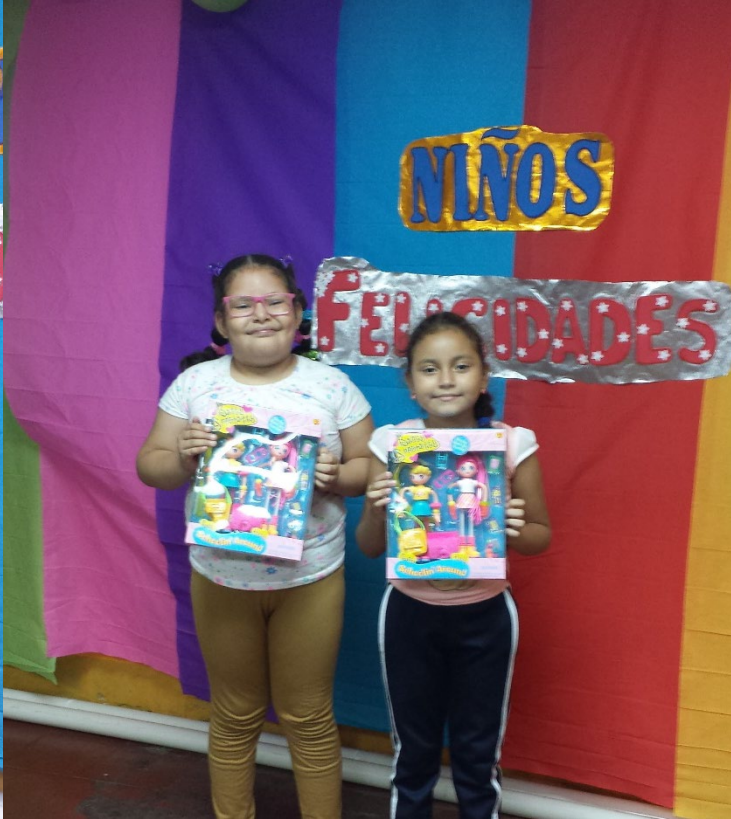

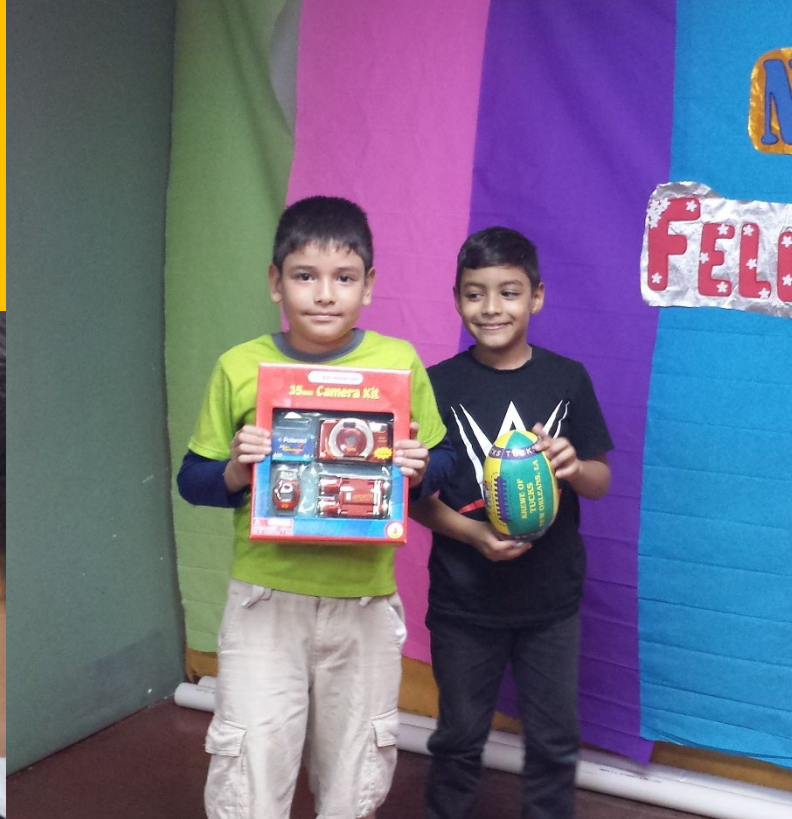

It was curious to see how one of the children had a hard time tearing twigs from the broccoli, Jael and Sharon took the time to explain in detail how to do it, apparently the Child has difficulty using his hands, but he succeeded, he did very well.

It was possible to see the children very happy to have cut their vegetables. The biggest ones cooked the pasta and made the sauce. Time was short but we had fun, jumped 4 types of dynamics were performed, within them, he was asked the name of the library, name of the books they have read, make a story in a group and the last one consisted of Quick assemble the puzzles in pairs, there were two winning couples. The children laughed, shouted, danced and even jumped, it was seen that they enjoyed it.

They were given the food prepared in the cooking class, the gifts were distributed, they were very excited to see that they were given stories, crayons and puppets, and to close the day they were given their piece of cake.

In the Celebration of Children's Day and the Cooking Class. The organization of this event was very emotional for everyone. We did it with respect, affection and loyalty, remembering Dr. Martin. Even with the sadness that invades us, we continue as a gesture of a beautiful farewell to a Brother that we will carry in our hearts and I thank with great affection the Sir who donated the money so that the children could Celebrate with love and joy. Thank you.

In my heart there can only be gratitude to you because you are like a family to me, friends and brothers who accompany me.

The road has not been easy, but the experience I have gained is invaluable. Thanks for all this time working together. "
